VIBE.aiRforce Conclusion

Social media mentions and search trends related to alt-season are showing clear signs of acceleration but remain below previous cycle peaks. The current data suggests we're in the early-to-mid phase of the alt-season social cycle, with approximately 60 days until peak social activity based on historical correlation patterns.

Key observations:

1. Social metrics are growing at a faster rate than in previous cycles
2. Platform-specific trends show Twitter leading the conversation, with Reddit and YouTube following
3. Geographic distribution shows stronger interest from Asian markets earlier in this cycle
4. Narrative-specific discussions (AI, RWA, DeFi) are showing stronger growth than generic alt-season mentions
5. Sentiment remains overwhelmingly positive with limited contrarian views

These social indicators align with our broader market analysis suggesting that the peak alt-season phase will likely occur between October 2025 and January 2026, with social media activity serving as both a leading and confirming indicator of this timeline.
